PAST THINGS

February's meeting was a fun one. We had lots of goodies to share and some real fun in the white elephant game. Still looking for some of those odd things that were present in years past.

Dee Beaupre had shoulder surgery and is working on recuperating. We saw her at the convention in Denver and she is doing well. She hopes to be back shooting by September so she can hunt. You go girl!!!!

Reports are good regarding John Gloyd. He is home and doing well. He also is recuperating and waiting for his chance to come back and be with us.

If you didn't make it to the CSMLA Annual Trade Show and Convention, you missed a really good time. Lots of our group was there and best of all, our own Marlin Johnson was named as the 2013 Muzzle Loader of the Year!!!! Way to go Marlin.

Gwen did a fantastic job on arranging kids events even though there were only a handful of kids present. Classes went well and were well attended. Gwen is looking for future instructors as well so step up and help her out.

Much like with our elections, the train ran through the CSMLA. Lots of our group are still on the board and we are so proud of you for your willingness to help keep this important organization going.

MARCH 3 PISTOL SHOOT WILL BE RUN BY JIM MURRAY. Please come out and help support this part of our group!!!!

38th Annual Shoot & Rendezvous

Yes, we are working fast and furious on this event. Committee lists are available for you to sign up and share your time.

Work party has been set for May 4 at the LaChance home. If you know how to get to the shoot, don't turn at 4th Street. Continue on Highway 115 south past the Gooseberry Patch Restaurant and take the next left and head east. Fred's home is the second one on the left. You'll see all our cars there. Be sure to bring your utensils and food to share at the potluck lunch which will be held right after the work is completed. There are plenty of jobs for all of us so plan now to come and help us. Mark your calendar for May 4th at 10:00 a.m.

Still looking for things for the kids prizes. If you have any ideas or any items that you are willing to share, please let Joy or Dee know.

Be sure to sell ads and get the information and money in to Doreen as soon as possible. Deadline is the April meeting, but you don't have to wait for that. Turn things in as soon as you can so we don't have a last minute rush. Questions about sizes or anything related to the book should be directed to Doreen.

Please be sure to look through the 2012 book and proofread for accuracy and errors. Let Doreen know if you find anything that needs changed or updated. Again deadline for any of this is the April meeting.

FEBRUARY 3 PAPER PISTOL MATCH

By: Ken West

The weather couldn't have been better - - - and with y vision returned to what it was at the age of 20, I'm running out of excuses!!!

The scores were:

|               |     |
|---------------|-----|
| Jim Murray    | 89x |
| Lon Mehle     | 81x |
| Fred LaChance | 80  |
| Ken West      | 76  |
| Tom Gabor     | 71  |

Good to see Tom back with a pistol! Always surprises me to be reminded that Lon can actually shoot.

THINGS EVERYONE ELSE ALREADY KNEW.....

I have always considered failure as a learning opportunity. If I had taken full advantage of all of my opportunities, I would have seven PhD's in muzzle loading by now. I keep flunking the field trials!

TRIGGER PULL: Never adjust the trigger pull pressure just before a match. It's harder to flinch and jerk the trigger with a 1 pound trigger pull than it is with a 2 ounce trigger pull.

GRIP: A heavier trigger pull requires a tighter grip - - - right? This is a good way to drop 15 points off your score.

In a card with their membership renewal check, Tom and Joane Scott sent along a message. Ted asked that we print this and update all on their progress.

Greetings,

Hope your 2013 is underway and all is well. Tom has had some health issues this past year....hopefully on the end now. He had a full hip replacement, apparently a defect since birth. He walks now!!! Next his shoulder for repairs and then hopefully he can walk and shoot his gun at camping. Last year was bad for him. We think of all our friends often and hope to see everyone this year.

Best Wishes,
Tom & Joane Scott

WHAT THE HECK!!!

By: Ted "Dances with Deer" Beaupre

Let me see if I can get a tale of high adventure going here. I was once told that in order to have an adventure, you have to cheat death. I guess the look that I got from Delores when I told her that she needed to carry in my tree stand because I was feeling a little puny that morning will have to suffice.

This year we arrived on the 29th of August and left on the 17th of September to go home. It sure was a nice time getting to watch the aspens change while we were there.

As usual, we set up camp and started to relax. The dog and I were waiting for grouse season to open. This year the bow hunters said that they were running into chickens everywhere and I wouldn't have a problem finding any.

We did see a lot of birds this year; as always when I didn't have a gun with me. One day Delores yelled that there was a bunch of chickens hanging just outside of camp! They sure made a nice grouse pot pie this Christmas.

Well, nothing much happened for the first two days of the season except on opening day. At about 0900, a Hollywood hunter came by wearing his tennis shoes and ankle socks, shorts, t-shirt, orange vest and hat . . . and including these giant white sunglasses. I almost dropped my rifle I was laughing so hard.

Well on Monday afternoon I was in my ground blind waiting for Mr. Horny to come down and drink. I have learned in the past that when you cock your rifle and set the trigger, it actually sounds like slamming a car door. Now what I do is cock the rifle and set the trigger and put the cap on only and I men only when I have a buck coming in. To do otherwise would be foolish.

At the same time every year almost down to the minute, (this year was no different) the buck came down and stood in the same place as the others. I raised my trusty rifle to a steady aim, pulled the trigger, and to my surprise, I heard CLANG! instead of BANG! What the %#$ I forgot to cap the rifle!!!! The buck turned and faced me but would not run! I put the cap on and pulled the trigger. The buck turned and ran about twenty feet and piled up.

After the smoke cleared, I stood up and looked around and found a doe standing just five feet from my blind. She stood there the whole time and didn't take off until I went to check on the buck.

As for Delores, it wasn't her year but we sure had a great time as always. See you next year.

Editor's note: Ted sent some very good pictures of the buck and the birds that he got. However, I'm not too good at getting all this electronic stuff to cooperate. You'll have to ask Ted to see his pictures.

January 7, 1865, over 1,000 Cheyennes, Northern Arapahoes, and Sioux warriors attacked a stage station and store at Julesburg in northeastern Colorado. George Bent reported that the Indians seized so many goods it took 3 days to haul all the supplies back to their camp. He also claimed they found the army payroll; while the Indians cut up the bills and tossed them to the wind, Bent stuffed them in his pockets.

These Indians, at least, finally had enough food to eat. Bent wrote:

The camp was well supplied with fresh beef and had a big herd of cattle besides; then there were whole wagon loads of bacon, hams, big bags of flour, sugar rice, cornmeal, shelled corn, tins and hogsheds of molasses, groceries of all sorts, canned meats and fruit, clothing, dress goods, silks, and hardware...most of these things the Indians had never seen before, and they were all the time bringing things to me and asking me what they were and what they were used for. I remember an Indian who brought me a big box and wanted to know what was in it. It was full of candied citron and I told him what it was for. Another thing that puzzled the Indians was the canned oysters.

When bolts of cloth were found, the warriors liked to gallop at full speed over the prairie while the cloth unwound and streamed dramatically behind them.

There was so much feasting and celebrating that there were fires all through the night into the dawn. The drumming also lasted all through the night and could be heard for miles and miles throughout the valley.
